Attended by students from the Universities of Bamberg, Helsinki and São Paulo. The talks are also open to the public; please register at contact.leltusp@gmail.com. The meeting will take place on Google Meets and we will send the link to registered participants before the event.

The online workshop is in line with the strategic reorientation of the University of Bamberg, which aims to increase the appreciation and visibility of individual and cultural diversity in research and teaching. This new orientation is also linked to the internationalisation strategy of the university.
